

Data Protection information and Consent.

An email was sent to all who currently subscribe to NOTE PAD on the 21st May 2018 in order to comply with new legislation on data protection.

The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) is an EU law which comes into force on 25 May 2018. ADA is legally obliged to obtain your explicit consent for us to email future issues of Note Pad to you, using your electronically stored personal data.

To receive Note Pad, please actively email, the consent statement at the end of this message to office@audiodescription.co.uk before clicking Send.

Please note that:

- 1 The only personal data held on the Note Pad mailing-list is your name, your email address, and (if applicable) your workplace.
- 2 Your personal data on the Note Pad mailing-list is held securely, is not used for any other purpose, and will not be given to any third party without your specific permission.
- 3 You can withdraw your consent and ask for your personal data to be removed from the Note Pad mailing-list at any time.

If you have any queries arising from this message, please contact: office@audiodescription.co.uk.

Thank you!

To the Audio Description Association:

I would like to receive your e-bulletin Note Pad and consent to my personal data being held on a computerised mailing-list for this purpose.
